Collector's Guide to Indian Canteen Tokens

Praful Thakkar

The Book

Collector's Guide to Indian Canteen Tokens is a reference catalogue of canteen tokens issued in India since 1939. These metallic tokens were issued by various establishments, government as well as non-government, for use in their own premises only. Such establishments were like mills, mints, military, railways, banks, clubs, hotels, companies, factories, co-operatives and like.

The concept of Canteen Tokens developed in different industrial, commercial, military, catering and other such units during the time of the World War II. During this time people at large experienced a serious crunch in small metallic change. In response to this emergency, unlike some Indian Princely States who issued cash coupons, major industrial and military establishments put into use the Canteen Tokens. Such canteen tokens were mainly used in the cotton mills of western India. Hotels, tea stalls, etc. in different parts of India are still using canteen tokens. These are made from various metals like brass, copper, aluminum, etc. On some of them name of the issuing organization is written in full, while on some others only initials are inscribed.

Quite like the hobby of collecting coins, collectors of canteen tokens are growing steadily. However, canteen tokens are not categorized and catalogued in one volume and not much is known about them either. The present book Collector's Guide to Indian Canteen Tokens is an humble attempt to fill this lacuna. The Guide has catalogued canteen tokens of major establishments like mills, mints, military, railways, banks, clubs, hotels and companies who issued them. In all, as many as 295 canteen tokens have been catalogued with details like the issuer, location, metal, weight, size, shape, value, and descriptions of obverse and reverse. Colour illustrations of more than 260 tokens have also been appended to make the Guide more comprehensive. In the end, a detailed Index, lists all the establishments whose canteen tokens have been catalogued along with their catalogue numbers.

The tokens of the British period in India and after independence have received very little study by numismatists that has led to published works. Major Fred Pridmore, in "The Coins of the British Commonwealth of Nations, Part 4 India, Volume 2" looked at tea garden, canteen and military tokens. Michael Mitchiner, in "Indian Tokens: Popular Religious & Secular Art" has reviewed various types of tokens including some canteen tokens, while S. K. Bose and N. G. Rhodes, in "Coins and Tokens of Assam" have covered tea garden tokens. The writer of this foreword has written about "Railway Tokens of the Raj" in Spink Numismatic Circular and published some small articles in various journals dealing with tokens produced by the Calcutta and Bombay mints including canteen tokens of the Calcutta Mint. In general, however, there has been little written on the tokens of India and no comprehensive work on the canteen tokens of British India since Pridmore published his Indian volume more than twenty years ago.

Thus, it is with great pleasure, that I write this foreword to my good friend Praful Thakkar's comprehensive review of canteen tokens issued by mills, mints, railways, companies, clubs, hotels and the military. Starting with his own collection he has drawn together canteen tokens from various sources and illustrated nearly all of the entries.

Congratulations to Praful Thakkar. This Collector's Guide should fulfill collector's needs for some time to come.

I am extremely obliged to my good friend Robert P. Puddester, the author of the Catalogue of British India Medals for writing an encouraging Foreword for this Guide. To me, he is the source of inspiration and guiding force to make this sort of reference Guide. I am also grateful to him for making me available and allowing me to publish the photos of some canteen tokens from his collection.

I also owe a great debt of gratitude to scholars like F. Pridmore and Michael Mitchiner whose works have not only enlightened but inspired me to do such a reference work. Their highly commendable works were a great source of inspiration.

I am highly grateful to Dr. Dilip Rajgor who has kindly edited this Collector's Guide and shared his experience and expertise to present this book with a view to help collectors in organizing their collections.

I also would like to take a sincere note of the help that my son Kunal gave me in preparing the book during my stay at USA. My special thanks are due to my beloved wife Rekha who has never grudged for taking away her share of life time and has always extended excellent encouragement and support.

I express my thanks to Farokh Todywalla of Mumbai who is not only a well wisher but also a friend. He has always encouraged me for this work.

A number of friends and colleagues have contributed and helped me in this endeavor. Although it is not possible to acknowledge their contribution individually, I wish to record my thanks to: Abhay Shah, Ahmedabad; Harish Shah, Ahmedabad and Wajid Khan, Pune.

My friends Satish Shah, Shailesh Parikh and Dipen Oza have kept no stone unturned to see that this Guide becomes best in all respects. My sincere thanks are due to all of them.

The Author with Mr. Robert P. Puddester at COINEX-2002, London

Since generations we are familiar with metallic coins. We know that they have the purchasing power; but tokens, and particularly metallic tokens, though look like coins, have different uses. In some places they are used as symbols, while at other they are used as substitutes.

However, Dictionary defines a token as “the substitute of reduced intrinsic value for a coin”. And in this reference the Canteen Tokens are to be viewed.

During the British period in India, we saw World War I of 1914-1919 and World War II of 1939-45. From 1870 to the period of World War I and then from the beginning of World War II in 1939 till the independence in 1947, a shortage of smaller coins was experienced by many organizations which had a large number of laborers who were to be paid their wages. Hence an idea was developed by private merchants and industrial concerns of introducing the metallic tokens which can be used by their employees and workers within their own business premises or in the shops of nearby area.

And because of this, we see many Tea and Coffee Estate tokens issued from 1870 to 1914 in southern and north-eastern parts of India which were issued by the respective Estate authorities. Pridmore in his book the Coins of the British Commonwealth of Nations, Part 4 - India has elaborately explained and discussed about tea garden tokens. S. K. Bose and N. G. Rhodes in Coins and Tokens of Assam have also covered in detail tea garden tokens. Robert Puddester has also written an article on the tea-coffee garden tokens of India. Those who are interested may please refer to the works of these scholars.

However, on similar lines, the concept of Canteen Tokens developed in different industrial, commercial and catering units during the time of World War II. From 1939 to 1950 the use of such tokens became popular in canteens of major industrial establishments like mills, factories, companies, etc. Such canteen tokens were mainly used in the cotton mills of western India. We do find many canteen tokens of cotton mills of Gujarat and Bombay. They were made of brass or copper and are of different shapes and sizes depending upon their value.

Canteen Tokens were also used in Mints. Tokens of I. G. Mints of Alipore (Calcutta), Bombay, Lahore and Hyderabad are known. Also recorded are Military Canteen Tokens. These were issued by the military contractors or Chaudharies or the military administration.

We also find such Canteen Tokens used by hotels, tea stalls, etc. in different parts of India. These are made from various metals like brass, copper, aluminum, etc. On some of them name of the issuing organization is written in full, while on some others only initials are inscribed. The latter are difficult to identify for want of comprehensive listing. However, the Author has tried to give more details of such Canteen Tokens in the present Guide. Whereas subject of Tea and Coffee Estate Tokens is excluded from the perview of this Guide.

We know that there are still a few tokens left in different categories to be included in the Guide. Such tokens will be added in the next edition of the Guide with due acknowledgements. The readers are requested to send scans or photographs of such newly discovered tokens.

Format of Guide

In this Collector's Guide, Canteen Tokens of different establishments from 1930 onwards have been catalogued.

For easy reference, Canteen Tokens have been assigned a Code of 100. The Tokens in this Guide are catalogued category-wise. Each Category has been given a separate number after common code of 100. After the Category number, individual Token number is given. Thus number 100.2.4 will mean that it is the 4th token of Category 2, which is Mint Token Category.

However, for Mill Canteen Tokens one Alphabet is added. Numeral 1 after common number of 100 indicates the group of Mill Tokens; it is followed by an alphabet. The alphabet indicates that the name of the Mill that starts with that letter. Thus 100.1.D.2 will mean that it is the 2nd token of the Mill whose name starts with D, e. g. Dhanraj Mills.

The last category, i.e. category number 100.11 is for Unidentified Tokens. There are some Tokens which bear only letters and numbers. With such little details, it becomes difficult to identify their issuers. Such Tokens are included in this category.

As far as possible all Tokens are illustrated with enlarged photographs. This is done with a view to bring out the minute details shown on the tokens. However, the readers are advised to check the actual dimension of the tokens in order to place them in their proper perspective. For the Tokens whose photos are not available, but are similar to Tokens of other denominations, a reference has been included at appropriate places.

It may also be noted that wherever perfect information is not available, N.A. is written.

In the end, a detailed Index lists all the establishments whose canteen tokens have been catalogued along with their catalogue numbers.
